European Fuel Cell Forum Conferences
Lucerne/Switzerland

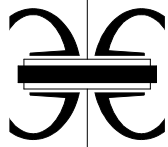

Since 1994 at the end of June the international EUROPEAN FUEL CELL FORUM, short EFCF conferences, take place in Lucerne/Switzerland. The highly valued conference series is an important meeting and networking event for many internationally relevant Fuel Cell and Hydrogen stakeholders. Monday and Tuesday of the conference week have become more and more established as ideal opportunity for project and group meetings. Thus take the chance to schedule on those days your meetings for your ongoing projects, set-up of new projects or for other topic related events such as IEA meetings.

To disburden meeting managers', initiators' and organizers' life and output, EFCF now freely support the organisation of such events for registered participants and exhibitors. All participants benefit from synergies of meetings related to the conference:

Limit travel & time load by meeting in Lucerne.

The EFCF as opportunity to meet in advance

The European Fuel Cell Forums bring together fuel cell and hydrogen stakeholders, i.e. developers, scientists, academics, politicians as well as industry representatives and decision makers. The Forums emphasise research, operational experiences and applications. It also provides an up-date of the state-of-the-art of the technologies and further stimulates research, development and demonstration activities.

Thus given the presence of many relevant actors, the opportunity for project meetings and the set-up of new projects is extra-ordinary. Furthermore the comfortable scale of Lucerne transforms its river- and lake-side into an in-official match-making and brokerage event in the evenings. You will find the opportunity to meet the relevant persons in a relaxed atmosphere, inspiring for new ideas and projects.

The very central location of Lucerne within Europe also limits the distance for people that can not attend the EFCF and travel especially for your project meeting.

Type of available Meeting Rooms

Rooms from 5 to 50 people are available on request, equipped with beamer etc. The reservation as such is free of charge for registered participants and exhibitors of the EFCF 2011. For the time when the EFCF takes place, we also offer a free hotel reservation service.

Most rooms are located in the very pleasant Hotels closed to the KKL where the European Fuel Cell Forum takes place. Services start from simple meeting room reservation, over coffee breaks, till complete full day programs. You can even keep your meeting on the top of Mount Pilatus with an inspiring sky line and return to Lucerne by boat.

For meetings with budget restriction, there are a few free meeting rooms available in a 6 minutes train ride from Lucerne main station and 5 minutes walk at the Lucerne University of Applied Science and Arts in Horw. There is also the possibility to visit the PEM-based UPS demonstration project.
