Head of R&D
Carnival Maritime

Scientific Board Member

ABOUT

Malte Zeretzke is responsible for R&D at Carnival Maritime, the fleet operator of AIDA and Costa. Here he is developing a strategy for the ambitious and at the same time economical decarbonization of the existing and future fleet. The focus is on scouting, evaluating, combining, and ultimately demonstrating future-oriented technologies and energy sources for the cruise sector. Previously, Mr. Zeretzke worked at DNV asa consulting engineer in sustainable technologies and international environmental legislation for the Federal Ministry of Transport.
